VOL. XVIII | MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE, MIDDLEBURY, OCTOBER 5, 1921 | No. 2

TWO-DAY HOLIDAY STARTS FRIDAY

Faculty and Student Body Will Spend Week-End at Bread Loaf

SECOND ANNUAL EXCURSION

Undergraduates Will View 30,000 Acre Battell Forests

Barring unpleasant weather, on Friday the undergraduate body and members of the faculty will make their second annual visit to Bread Loaf Inn, the College summer resort and seat of the English School in Ripton, eleven miles distant and in the heart of the Green Mountains. There for two days the College will act as host to four hundred or more people and every scenic and recreational advantage of the immense 30,000 acre tract of timberland owned by the College will be laid before the visitors.

The playing of Middlebury songs on the chimes in Mead Memorial Chapel at half past seven Friday morning will announce to the college body the decision of the committee in charge to hold the holiday. Otherwise the usual program of class appointments will remain undisturbed. If the weather be favorable automobile trucks will start from the rear of Old Chapel for East Middlebury promptly at eight o'clock with their cargoes of students. Blankets and other necessary baggage will be transported the entire distance. Trucks will carry students from the College to East Middlebury Friday morning, and the following afternoon will transport them the same distance on the return trip. Those making the trip will hike from East Middlebury to Bread Loaf, a distance of six miles.

Dinner will be served immediately upon the arrival of the hikers, and in the afternoon a program of class games will probably be carried out. In addition, the Inn contains several bowling alleys, a dance hall and has one or more tennis courts. Rooms will be assigned the guests in the Inn proper and in the numerous adjoining cottages.

Although no definite announcement has been made regarding Saturday's program it is probable that many of the excursionists will repeat the four-mile hike to Silent Cliff which drops off one thousand feet in the direction of the Adirondacks. Other points of interest likely to be visited are Bread Loaf Mountain with an elevation of 3800 feet; Lake Pleiad, about one mile south of Silent Cliff and Pleiad Lookout, another promontory lying along the Green Mountain Trail.

The excursion is to be under the personal direction of Dean E. J. Wiley of the Men's College, and Dean E. S. Ross of the Women's College. Professors L. I. Bonney and P. C. Voter are arranging a program of sports and entertainment, and Mrs. Maud O. Mason and Mrs. Kate Mills, directors of the College eating halls, are to have joint supervision of the provisioning.

To Hold Glee Club Try-Outs

Try-outs for positions in the Men's Glee Club will be held Thursday evening of this week from seven to eight o'clock at the studio on Storrs Avenue. More extensive plans than heretofore are under way and a banner year is expected. Under the direction of Mr. Larsen the quality of work to be done is certain to be worth while. Two or more trips are assured.

HALL ELECTED TO FINANCE COMMITTEE

Choose Student Member at Undergrad. Meeting Last Night

ROBINSON CHEER LEADER

Announce Appointment of Five Standing Committees

The election of the student member of the athletic Finance Committee and the choice of a head cheer-leader and three assistants featured the business at the first meeting of the Undergraduate Association held in McCullough Gymnasium last night. Roger T. Hall '22 of Readfield Depot, Me., was named for the former office and E. Locke Robinson '22 of Windsor was elected to lead cheers with Wright '22, Shepardson '23 and Durkee '24 as assistants.

Horner '22 was chosen chairman of the Social Committee and Lane '22 and M. Ross '22 were named as his committee. Hall '22 was appointed to head a Campus Committee consisting of Cabot '22 and Baldwin '22. Cole '22 and M. Adams '23 were also named as Dormitory and Library Committee respectively.

The announcement of the appointment of a Rally Banquet Committee consisting of Wade '22, chairman, Brokenshire '22, Spear '22, Wright '22 and Eddy '23 was also made by the Student Council. Simmons '24 was selected to fill the vacancy in the Sophomore Rules Committee caused by Lockwood's departure from college.

The question of the advisability of awarding members of last year's State Championship track team with winged feet watch charms was laid on the table until the next meeting and, after discussion, the decision regarding the installation of cross country as a minor sport was referred to the Athletic Council.

President Gollnick spoke briefly on certain improvements to be made about the campus, especially in regard to the grass plots, requesting that students keep to the walks and off the paths that is being worn in front of Hepburn Hall.

On motion of the freshman class, the entering men refrained from voting on all elections at the meeting.

TICKETS GO ON SALE FOR ENTERTAINMENT COURSE

Season tickets for the college entertainment course go on sale at Frost's Pharmacy tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30. The course for the present year is the greatest thing of its kind ever undertaken by the college. William J. Bryan, the Boston Symphony Orchestra, Pablo Casals, Hulda Lashanska, and the New York Chamber Music Society constitute an imposing array of talent, and talent of great range and variety.

The price of the season ticket is $5.00, the same as last year, in spite of the very much larger cost of this year's course. It should be borne in mind that it would be utterly impossible for anyone to attend these five entertainments anywhere else in the United States for this price, unless it was in a college having a course backed like that in Middlebury. It is the generous support of the Trustees that makes this opportunity possible. We are confident that the sale of tickets, in as pronounced a way as last year—and even more so—will show that the whole college appreciates its opportunity.

'VARSITY OUTPLAYS DARTMOUTH IN FIRST HALF BUT LOSES 28-3

Middlebury Makes Strong Start Against Heavy Hanover Aggregation But Weakens

QUACKENBUSH KICKS GOAL

First Half Ends With Score 3-0 in Favor of 'Varsity---Brown Breaks Shoulder

Middlebury more than upheld the reputation established against Harvard in the season's opener, when the 'Varsity completely outplayed and outgamed Dartmouth in the first half of the game at Hanover Saturday. When the second half started Coach Cannel's men faced a three point lead which had been amassed by Middlebury through the aid of a drop-kick by Quackenbush from the 8-yard line in the second quarter. In the final periods the Green's weight and reserve men came to advantage and piled up 28 points before the final whistle blew, making the final score 28-3.

Green Outplayed in First Half

Fumbles galore marred the play in the first part of the game but Coach Morey's men easily had the better of the argument until the end of the second period. Frequently penalties for off-side play delayed Midlebury's start but as soon as the Blue got organize, it commenced a drive that placed the ball on the Dartmouth 18-yard line when the whistle blew for the first quarter.

Quackenbush Kicks Goal

On the first play after the goals had changed Quackenbush booted Middlebury into the lead with a neat drop-kick. The remainder of the period saw little decisive action though the 'Varsity backs made repeated gains through the Green line.

Dartmouth came back the second half with blood in its eyes and it required but eight plays to rush the ball down the field for the first touchdown and before the third quarter was over the score was 14-3, Captain Robertson plunging through for the first, after which Chick Burke ran 65 yards for the second.

Robertson made his second touchdown in the final quarter and then Hawes, who took his place at left half, added another. Middlebury performed two beautiful forward passes at the fag en of the game but the final whistle cut short its advance down the field and the game ended with the score 28-3 in Dartmouth's favor.

Game Costly to Middlebury

The whole Middlebury team received a hard battering by the Green which outweighed them twenty to fifty pounds to the man. The most serious injury was that to Brown, Middlebury's star end who suffered a broken shoulder in the first few minutes of play. Brown will be out the remainder of the season. Moynihan was also injured, bruises on the hips and a broken thumb being the toll of his misfortunes. Quackenbush and Ashley were also pretty well disabled but will soon be fit again.

The whole Middlebury backfield played well while Moynihan at center was wonderfully strong on the defensive until he was injured. Captain Jim Robertson was easily the star of the Dartmouth team though his running-

PLANS STARTED FOR 2ND RALLY BANQUET

L. T. Wade '22 Heads Committee of Five on Arrangements For Alumni Gathering November 11

Plans for the observance of the Second Rally Banquet on Armistice Day, the eve of the Vermont-Middlebury game, November 12, took form late last week with the appointment by Student Council of a committee of five headed by Leighton T. Wade '22, to take charge of the affair. The committee is already at work on a tentative list of speakers and plans to send out 1400 invitations to practically every male alumnus of the College within the next ten days. President P. D. Moody has accepted an invitation to be present and to address the gathering.

The instantaneous popularity of the Rally-Banquet at the time of its inception last fall marked it as the biggest success in that line ever attempted at Middlebury. Over one hundred alumni returned for the occasion and the number of undergraduates in attendance brought the total well over the two hundred mark. The speakers included Ex-President John M. Thomas '90, "Pick" Fisher '11, "Dud" Drake '02, All-American end while at Pennsylvania, Coach A. M. Brown and Judge H. L. Skeels '98. The present committee anticipates a substantial increase in the attendance total this fall.

The committee which is composed of Chairman Wade, R. H. Brokenshire '22, H. G. Spears '22, J. H. Wright '22, and H. H. Eddy '23, met Monday and awarded to Mrs. Maude O. Mason, Matron of Hepburn Hall and manager of the Men's Commons, the contract fr catering. The banquet will in all prbability be held in the Gymnasium this year as it was last fall.

PROF. LACALLE EDITOR OF COLLEGE PUBLICATIONS

Professor J. Moreno-Lacalle, Dean of the Department of Spanish, has been designated by President Moody to act as editor of college publications. The appointment of Professor Lacalle is made for the purpose of centralizing the editing, printing and distributing of college publications, circulars, blanks and form letters. It is expected that by this arrangement a considerable economy may be affected. The new plan became operative October 1.

All official publications of the college are to be ordered through the editor, and edited and printed under his supervision. All printing, including that of stationery, forms, blanks, examination questions and other matter required for college business will be done only upon requisition to the editor approved by the provost or the president. The editor, under the new arrangement, submits to the provost a quarterly itemized statement of the different jobs done, showing the cost of each and the amounts charged to the various departments of the college.

The office of the editor is located in Room 7, Middle Painter, with telephone connection 146-4.

A reception was tendered by members of the faculty and their wives to President and Mrs. Paul Dwight Moody Monday evening in Starr Library. The library was attractively decorated with autumn leaves.

Team Support

From The Dartmouth we learn that when Norwich played Dartmouth at Hanover two Saturdays ago there were but two men left at Northfield and they were detailed as guards. Practically the full one hundred per cent of the cadet student body somehow travelled the fifty miles to New Hampshire to back their team to the limit.

The following Saturday Dartmouth played Middlebury and only a handful of Middlebury rooters were present to see Dartmouth trail 3-0 at the end of the first half. Only an insignificant per cent of the student body at Middlebury could find a way to go eighty miles to Hanover. At the same time the 'Varsity was fighting against tremendous odds in New Hampshire, the second team was opening the home season with Goddard and still only a handful of Middlebury was there to lend support. The cheering, due to no particular fault of the leaders, was listless, swelling to considerable proportions when the seconds were gaining and dwindling to insignificance when the process was reversed. Evidently Middlebury can learn lessons of loyalty and team support from Norwich.

Middlebury has a good team, a team that is giving all it has to the college. It has been twice defeated but each time by teams that outweighed it from twenty to fifty pounds to the man. Against Harvard and Dartmouth, two of the strongest elevens in the east, the 'Varsity has made an enviable record. They went down but they went down fighting and in each instance they gained the wholesome respect of the colleges they played.

And what has the student body done? One short rally and occasional individual support is the limit. Teams leave without a send-off. They return without a welcome back. The season is still young and there are still games to be played. Get behind, Middlebury, and show the team that you are with the squad to a man. Be down at the train when the men leave for West Point; be down at the train when they come back. Win or lose, Middlebury knows that she will be proud of the team that represents her.

On Common Ground

Next Friday and Saturday students and faculty of Middlebury will be given a truly unusual opportunity to meet together on common ground, to lay aside all differences of the class room, to know each other on the basis of pure good-fellowship. The institution of the pilgrimage to Silent Cliff and the two-day college outing at Bread Loaf Inn last year and the subsequent repetition of this event this week-end affords a happy opportunity, indeed, both for student and professor.

The tasks involved in making this rather pretentious excursion possible are considerable—the transportation of an entire college into the heart of the mountains, the planning and preparation of meals, the arrangement of proper sleeping facilities are responsibilities not to be considered lightly. And yet what is a responsibility is a privilege. Middlebury stands unique among colleges, the owner of a completely equipped mountain hostelry and thirty thousand acres of virgin timberland comprising the Battell Forest bequest, famed far and wide, for its unusual scenic charm.

It is on this vast natural playground that student and faculty will meet as sons of Middlebury to discover the beauty of their heritance, and to meet each other. Amid such friendly circumstance the college can not fail to realize that greater, more wholesome spirit of unity which sweeps aside all petty differences and prejudices in the one common love for Middlebury. We know of no more favorable omen for the well-being of the college than the institution of the Bread Loaf trip as an annual feature. To those who have attended or will attend such an excursion the memory of it will always remain among their happiest thoughts of Middlebury.

The H. C. of Music

Is it "the war" or is it the high price of music that has necessitated the increased cost of informal dances at Middlebury? We are told it is the latter. When it considers the entertainment offered by teams gratis, the efforts spent unselfishly in non-athletic activities of all kinds, The Campus seems to note a discrepancy in values. It is unfortunate that monopoly should be used in this way to boost prices. Frankly, is there any just reason for it?

S. N. C. HEARS PRESIDENT MOODY ON "DENOMINATIONS"

The Old Chapel auditorium was filled to its capacity Sunday when President Moody spoke to members of the Sunday Noon Club and their guests on the subject of "Denominational Unity." President Moody was of the opinion that denominational preferences were not usually the result of thoughtful investigation but rather due to the tendency of people to grow into it because of parents' sects.

Sects are signs of narrowness, the result of passionate desire that all things must be uniform. People confuse unity and uniformity. God has really united the church, said President Moody. The task today is to get back to that unity.

C. J. Lyon '18 was married June 25 to Miss Gertrude Adair at the bride's home in East Merideth, N. Y. Mrs. Lyon is a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College in the class of '19. Lyon recently signed a four-year contract to instruct in the department of Biology at Dartmouth College. He is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity.

Professor of Mathematics, Llewellyn R. Perkins, who is away on his sabbatical year, is taking graduate work at Harvard University. Prof. Charles F. Abbott, Jermain Professor of Government and Law, who is also away on leave, is at Johns Hopkins University. He expects to make a tour of the west.

CORRECT ERROR ON FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Professor Arthur M. Brown Head of Department of Physical Education and Track Coach

An unfortunate mistatement on the printed football schedule which was distributed last week should receive unqualified correction. The name of Professor Arthur M. Brown, Head of the Department of Physical Education, was printed with the title "Assistant Coach". When Professor Brown came to Middlebury, he took charge of all 'Varsity sports; but the growth of track, intra-mural sports, and the work of the Department of Physical Education made necessary a divison of his duties last year.

The engagement of a coach for football and baseball relieves Professor Brown of all official responsibility for the coaching of those sports and enables him to devote his time to coaching gymnasium and track and to the further development of the Department of Physical Education. The establishment of the required course in Physical Education for freshmen men makes necessary assistance for Professor Brown in the laboratory work of that course.

Eugene L. Robinson, and Erwin E. Drost have been appointed to have charge of this work under Professor Brown's direction. This arrangement makes it possible for Professor Brown to offer, in addition to the fundamental course in Physical Education, advanced courses in Physical Training and Hygiene, Gymnastic Training, and Athletic Coaching. The present arrangement constitutes by far the best possibilities in Physical Education ever offered students of Middlebury.

WORK PROGRESSING ON WOMEN'S ATHLETIC FIELD

Extensive work has been carried on this summer in the construction of a new Women's Athletic Field which is located in front of Pearsons Hall to the north of the women's tennis courts. The plot has been leveled and drained by means of its slight slope to the north, and then surfaced with a covering of loam over clay. It has recently been completely seeded, with the exception of the baseball diamond and a straightaway track which extends the entire length of the field. The field will not be ready for actual use until it becomes hardened which will probably prohibit any playing this fall.

Last June the need of a separate field for girl's athletics was brought before the Trustees at the instigation of Miss Marion Young, former physical director, and Judge John E. Weeks, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds. A sum of $2500 was then voted for putting the ground into complete condition.

CROSS-COUNTRY MEN SHOWING UP WELL

With over twenty men practicing daily, the cross-country squad is developing at an encouraging rate. Several of the freshmen are showing up well and promise good material for the future. Coach Arthur M. Brown, who is in charge of the sports, expects to hold a try-out sometime this week for the purpose of definitely selecting the team.

No announcement of a schedule has yet been made but the management expects the complete arrangements at an early date. Bowdoin and Dartmouth have each written requesting a meet, and runs with Williams and St. Lawrence are pending. The cross-country squad at present consists of the following men: Cole and Lewis '22, Carroll, Gray, Klock, Thompson, Walsh and Whitney '23, Cook, Kendall, Mayercik, and Whitten '24, and Antel, Burpeau, Cleveland, Hamlin, Lawson, Lee, Oliver and Rogalski '25.

PRES. MOODY SPEAKS AT VESPERS SERVICE SUNDAY

At Vesper service Sunday afternoon President Moody took as his text Deut. 12: 13 "Take heed to thyself that thou offer not thy burnt offerings in every place that thou seest." He spoke of the temptation of the Israelites to make their offerings at the wayside shrines rather than to take the long journey to the place appointed for that purpose by God.

"These people", said President Moody "needed a certain amount of ceremony to sense the reality of God." We learn that God is everywhere because we learn first of all that he is somewhere, and there was danger in this early time of religious consciousness that the worship at wayside shrines would lead them away from the real God. Connecting the historical story with the present day President Moody said, "The man who has to be cautioned against offering at wayside shrines is the man who has to be cautioned to keep his purposes clear." When we fail in our purpose it is not so much that the way was too hard, but because something came in the way that diverted our attention. The burnt offerings of the Israelites were dedicatory, symbolizing the giving of themselves. There is only one true altar for the soul, and that is God.

First Informal Saturday

Sixty couples attended the first informal dance of the season held in McCullough Gymnasium, Saturday evening. Music for fifteen dances and one extra was furnished by a college orchestra consisting of Bishop '22, LaFountain '22, Adams '23 and Hunter '24. The chaperones were Professor and Mrs. Vernon C. Harrington and Dean and Mrs. Edgar J. Wiley.

Ruth Cann '19 is acting as Junior Leader for the Swarthmore Chautauqua on a circuit covering parts of Virginia, Maryland, and North Carolina.

Jessamine Smith '08 is employed as librarian in the public library at South Manchester, Conn.

TEMPORARY ASSIGNMENTS MADE BY PRESS CLUB

At a recent meeting of the Press Club, plans were made for carrying on the work of the club along the lines developed last year, with temporary assignments as follows:

Special News Writers—Henry H. Eddy '23 and Chester R. Corsan '24.

Home Papers—Robert G. Spaulding '24, Ralph L. Houghton '24, Miss Mary E. Loughrey '23 and Miss Marion H. Crathern '22.

College Notes—Miss Ruth Coolidge '22, Miss Mae Thorpe '23, Chester R. Corson '24 and Edward C. McClure '25.

The resignation of R. W. Lyon as secretary was accepted, and Edgar T. Austin was elected to the office.

The cooperation of students and faculty is desired to make the work of the club as helpful as possible this year. Those desiring to join the club should hand their names to the president, Henry H. Eddy '23. Election will be according to the provisions of the constitution adopted last spring.

HOLD FOOTBALL RALLY BEFORE DARTMOUTH GAME

At a short thirty-minute rally held in McCullough Gymnasium Thursday evening before the Dartmouth game speeches were made by President Moody, Coach Morey and Captain Gollnick. President Moody spoke in appreciation of the team, regretting his own personal inability to attend any of the early season games. Coach Morey pleaded for student support and spirit and Captain Gollnick issued a call for more candidates. The rally was sponsored by the Waubanakees and the speakers were introduced by L. T. Wade '22. Middlebury songs and a snake dance completed the program.

'VARSITY TO PLAY ARMY SATURDAY

Four Regulars Will be Missing From Middlebury Line-up—Keppler, Star Tackle, Joins Squad

With four regulars missing from the line-up Middlebury will not be able to send her full strength Saturday against West Point in the third game of the schedule. Army opened Saturday by dividing a double-header, winning from Springfield College 28-7 but losing to New Hampshire State 10-7.

Army as usual has a heavy, strong team and displayed flashes of good work in the first game against Springfield though their work on the whole was not exceptional. French, the West Point star back and all-American player, only played a part of the final quarter in the Springfield game but it is expected that he will be used more either in the Middlebury game or the Lebanon Valley game which will complete the second half of the afternoon's football at West Point Saturday.

Dartmouth Game Costly

The Dartmouth-Middlebury game was a costly affair for the 'Varsity in that an injury to Brown, incurred in the first half will probably keep the star end out of the game for the remainder of the season. While falling on the ball, Brown broke his left shoulder. The fracture is mending nicely but Brown will be lost to the club for the season. Moynihan, whose scrappy playing at center was a feature of the Hanover contest, has a broken thumb and bruises on the hips and legs, but it is expected that he will be able to resume his position by the Norwich game at least. Kalin, who is out with an infected knee, may be in again toward the end of the season. Quackenbush will not be able to play Saturday but he will probably be back at quarter when the 'Varsity lines up against Norwich the following Saturday.

Keppler Joins Squad

To offset the loss of these four regulars, Keppler's return to football is especially welcome. Keppler was a mountain of strength at tackle last season, easily the team's best man on the defensive. He will probably go in Norton's place at tackle, while Norton will be moved out to take Brown's place on the wing position.

Coach Morey has not yet definitely decided what line-up he will use against the cadets but the teams will probably line-up as follows:

West Point		Middlebury
Doyle, l. e.,		l. e., Gallagher
Mulligan, l. t.,		l. t., Potratz
Goodman, l. g.,		l. g., Reinbrecht
Green, c.,		c., Carboy

SECONDS DEFEATED BY GODDARD 7-0

Many Fumbles Mar Progress of First Game on Second Team Schedule Saturday at Porter Field

In a slow, rather uninteresting game marred by frequent fumbles the Middlebury scrubs opened the second team schedule with a 7-0 defeat at the hands of Goddard Seminary on Porter Field Saturday afternoon. The teams were evenly matched and only a fluke touchdown prevented the score from being a tie. In the second period Cyran, the Barre quarter picked up a fumble and ran twenty yards across the goal line. He kicked the goal.

The Goddard team proved an unusually strong and heavy school-boy aggregation and showed flashes of good football. They have been well-drilled by Robert T. "Bosco" Aldrich, Middlebury '21, who was recently placed in charge of athletics at the seminary. Mullen, Wall, Vanotti and Cyran played well for the visitors.

The Middlebury team showed a lack of teamwork and unfamiliarity with the signals but several of the players played good individual games. Deitchman at right half put up a good fight and starred on the offensive while Shepardson and Yeaw were best on the defensive. Many injuries held up the progress of the game. Anderson was taken out with a broken shoulder and Gollnick suffered three cracked ribs. The line up:

Middlebury 0		Goddard 7
Pollard, l. e.,		l. e., Wall, Kroll
Shepardson, (Capt.)		l. t., l. t., Bellville
Polhemus, White,		l. g., l. g., Johnson, Krimens
Yeaw, c.,		c., Willey
Riegelman, r. g.,		r. g., Mitchell
White, K. Doe, r. t.,		r. t., Mullen
Ryan, r. e.,		r. e., Buckley
Anderson, Holquist, q.b.,		q.b., Cyran
Holquist, Kilbride, l. h., b.,		l. h. b., Woodard
Deitchman, r. h. b.,		r. h. b., Vanotti
Gollnick, f. b.,		f. b., (Capt.) Finn

Touchdown: Cyran. Goal from touchdown, Cyran. Referee, Brown (Williams) Umpire, Leonard (Middlebury). Length of periods, 10 minutes.

PAUL M. ROSS ELECTED TO HEAD SENIOR CLASS

Paul M. Ross of Poultney was elected president of the senior class at a meeting held Monday afternoon in the hemicycle. Margaret C. Dickinson, Julia B. Sullivan and Ruth E. Coolidge were nominated for vice-president but the election was held over until later.

Ross is a graduate of Troy Conference Academy. He has played class basketball and was on the 1921 baseball team until injuries took him out of the game. He was also business manager of The 1922 Kaleidoscope and played a prominent part in the Junior Play last spring. He is a member of Chi Psi Fraternity and the Sages.
